

Guidelines for Grantseekers

Our Mission

The Findlay-Hancock County Community Foundation is dedicated to improving the quality of life in the Hancock County area by partnering with donors in their philanthropic giving, engaging in collaborative leadership and responsible grantmaking.

Introduction

The Findlay-Hancock County Community Foundation is a nonprofit, publicly supported, philanthropic institution that manages a pool of charitable funds. The Foundation has been awarding grants for 50 years, first as the Dorney Fund of the Cleveland Foundation in the 1970s, then as The Findlay-Hancock County Community Foundation beginning in 1992. This history of supporting the community in partnership with donors is a lesson in collaboration. The Community Foundation is proud to be a bridge between donors and organizations for the benefit of Hancock County.

Each year, the Foundation's Board of Trustees determines the amount available to award in the form of responsive grants that benefit Findlay and Hancock County. Responsive grants are funded by our Community's Endowment, a pool of unrestricted funds. The Foundation manages other funds that are donor directed for specific causes or organizations. Together these funds reflect the diverse charitable interests of our community and enable us to respond to a wide variety of community challenges and needs.

These guidelines are designed to provide information about applying for a responsive grant from The Findlay-Hancock County Community Foundation. It explains policies, priorities, limitations, deadlines and other information you will need to know about the way we work and the factors that influence grantmaking decisions. As you work through the grant process, our community engagement staff is here to support you and guide you each step of the way. Please reach out to us with any questions you may have.

Sincerely,

Brian P. Treece, Ed.D.

Guidelines for Grantseekers

There is no prescription to ensure success in obtaining a responsive grant. Each proposal is evaluated on the basis of its potential benefit to the people living in our community at a given point in time - and on the imagination, resourcefulness, and credibility of those submitting it.

However, it is suggested that the following format be used for your proposal, and recommended that you examine your ideas carefully in order to strengthen them. Following these guidelines will save you time and will help you present your proposal in a clear and compelling manner.

Who is eligible for a grant?

Most responsive grants are made to tax-exempt, private agencies classified as 501(c)(3) organizations, public charities as defined by the Internal Revenue Service. Grants may also be made to governmental agencies. The programs we consider for support are located in the Greater Hancock County area or will directly benefit the Greater Hancock County residents, unless stipulated by the donor. Many grantseekers find it beneficial to call The Community Foundation office at 419-425-1100 for an appointment to discuss their ideas with community engagement staff before beginning the grant proposal or submitting a Letter of Intent.

What does The Community Foundation typically fund?

Successful applications typically address problems to be solved or opportunities to be seized in the Greater Hancock County area. Grant requests should include some or all of the following elements:

- Programs serving Hancock County residents.
- Programs that make a substantial difference in the quality of community life.
- Programs that avoid unnecessary duplication of services.
- Programs that demonstrate measurable outcomes.
- Programs that help nonprofit organizations build capacity and become more effective.
- Programs that include financial and other strategic commitments from funding organizations other than The Community Foundation.
- Programs that expand meaningful civic engagements and build social capital.
- Programs that address prevention as well as remediation.
- Programs that acknowledge and respect diversity and help bridge differences among individuals, organizations, and communities.
- Organizations with fiscal soundness and plans for continuing their program in the future.
- Organizations that demonstrate sustainability.
- Organizations that facilitate collaboration among relevant groups.
- Organizations that use or expand upon demonstrated and documented best practices.
- Organizations that leverage change in the capacity of community-wide systems rather than individual organizations.

- On a case by case basis, requests for technology funding will be considered as part of a program request if specific criteria are met. Contact community engagement staff to discuss.

What does The Community Foundation typically decline?

We are not likely to support the following:

- Sponsoring or attending conferences.
- Unnecessary duplication of existing services.
- Requests from individuals.
- Ongoing operating expenses.
- Annual appeals or membership drives.
- Fundraising projects, advertisements, endowment or debt reduction.
- Religious organizations for religious purposes.
- Community services such as police and fire protection.
- Travel for individuals or groups when it is the primary focus of the proposal.
- Staff positions for government agencies.
- Stand-alone books, films, or videos.
- Computer equipment.
- Medical research.
- Retroactive programs and projects.
- Partisan political advocacy.
- Capital requests or capital campaigns.*

*Capital projects must help meet a compelling community need, advance Community Foundation priorities, and offer broad social benefits. When we do participate in a capital project, support is contingent on funding from other sources. Payment will not be authorized until the organization has raised a significant percentage of its total dollar goal.

What period do grants cover?

The grant period may vary depending on the proposed activities. The Community Foundation grants are awarded for a definite purpose and for a project to be accomplished in a specific period of time.

Typically, grant periods range from as short as six (6) months to as long as three (3) to five (5) years. A semi-annual report including a budget update and narrative must be submitted to our office every six months (forms are available on our website).

Letter of Intent

All potential grant applicants are required to submit a LETTER OF INTENT no less than sixty (60) days prior to the grant application deadline. The information provided is for staff review only and will not be used in the final grant review. The Community Foundation staff will review the proposed project as described in the Letter of Intent for eligibility under grant guidelines and appropriateness of requested grant amount. If minimum benchmarks are met, The Community Foundation staff will contact you no less than 45 days prior to the grant application deadline to request submission of a full grant application.

Please include the following information in a one to two page Letter of Intent:

- WHO? Introduction to your agency.
- WHY? Description of community need. Support this with local statistics.
- WHAT? Statement of project's goal and objectives and expected project outcomes. Please include answers to the following questions:
 - What will be done?
 - What difference will it make?
 - When will changes be seen?
- HOW? Statement of project approach.
- WHEN? Projected timing of grant request.
- HOW MUCH? Estimate of total cost and amount of The Community Foundation request.
- WITH WHOM? Explain other funding partners and collaborators committed to the project.

If a grantseeker has received written notification to submit a full grant proposal following an evaluation of the Letter of Intent, it is important to note that there are two levels of grant applications at The Community Foundation. Depending on the amount being requested, the proposal will be considered either a Small Grant (\leq $35,000) or a Large Grant ($>$ $35,000). Each has its own grant application process and grant reporting requirements. Please review the Grant Reporting Requirements Form and the Grant Reporting section of The Community Foundation website for more details.

Preparing the Grant Narrative (Small And Large Grants)

If you are invited to submit a full grant application, carefully review the following section. Write clearly and simply. Avoid jargon that may be used exclusively by your organization or by those in your field. Keep in mind that the more tightly organized your proposal, the more persuasive you are likely to be.

Successful proposals will answer the following questions:

- Is proposed project a solution to a community problem?
- Is proposed project supported by other funding partners?
- Does proposed project build organizational and/or community capacity?
- Is proposed project sustainable after the grant period expires?
- What will success look like?
- How will success be measured?
- Please describe how program recipients' input was obtained in designing this program and how it will be obtained in evaluating its success?

Small Grants

If your grant request is ≤ $35,000, program staff from The Community Foundation will provide a list of required information to be included in the grant application as part of your Letter of Intent response letter. Therefore, if you fall within that category, please disregard the Large Grant section on preparing the grant narrative. This information is only for grant requests > $35,000.  For projects working to address complex social issues, The Community Foundation expects that the grant applicant will follow the collective impact model and coalition building process and that the work planned is integrated into existing coalitions in Hancock County. Collective impact is a model that guides organizations from different sectors to agree to solve a specific, complex social problem using a common agenda, aligning their work and using common measures of success. In order to create lasting solutions to complex social problems on a large-scale, organizations - including those in government, civil society and the business sector - need to coordinate their efforts and work together around a clearly defined goal. For more information on the collective impact model and coalition building process, please contact community engagement staff at The Community Foundation.

After You Submit Your Proposal

Community engagement staff will contact you to discuss the project as part of the proposal review. The community engagement staff may conduct research, make site visits with the Foundation's grants committee, interview your staff or board, and talk to other experts in the field or community. For grant requests > $35,000, an important part of this process will be the negotiation of the metrics for success for the proposed project. This will include the completion of the Logic Model Guide as part of the application process. During this time, community engagement staff may also suggest ways to redefine or refine your proposal.

Community engagement staff prepares a written evaluation of your proposal that is reviewed by The Community Foundation's grants committee and Board of Trustees. It is important for community engagement staff to understand the proposal as fully as possible in order to be totally prepared to answer question that may arise at the Board table. The Community Foundation will decide to fund (in full or in part), decline, or defer the proposal.

When A Grant Is Awarded

Immediately after the Board of Trustees meeting, you will receive notification of the funding decision. If your proposal is funded, a Terms of Grant Agreement will be sent for your signature. The Terms of Grant Agreement, along with the grant award letter and grant proposal, are the governing documents for The Community Foundation funding. The Terms of Agreement outlines the limits and conditions under which the grant has been authorized. It also includes a payment schedule. Please note that the Terms of Grant Agreement is a binding contract detailing duties and responsibilities of both parties (The Community Foundation and grantee agency).

For project reporting requirements, progress reports, site visits or discussions with program staff will be required at six-month and year-end intervals. Please review the Grant Report Requirements Form and Grant section of the website for details. Between reports, please contact community engagement staff to discuss any anticipated changes in project activities or uses of funds. All changes must first be approved by The Community Foundation staff.

After the Grant Period Expires

A final narrative and fiscal report on all projects funded is required. These forms are available online at www.community-foundation.com and can be downloaded to your computer. The fiscal report must cover the entire project period and be signed by your organization's fiscal officer or treasurer. The due dates of the reports are included in the Terms of Grant Agreement. We require that any unexpended funds be returned to The Community Foundation.

We want to give your proposal the time and attention it deserves, so the full proposal deadlines fall three months prior to each Board of Trustees meeting. Unless you have arranged for an extension, we will strictly observe these deadlines.
